DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-6, 11-18, 20-23, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification as filed does not require the lack of excitation at the substrate surface. In fact, the claims require atomic or molecular beams to interact with the growth surface. This suggests some excitation of the substrate growth surface. Also, it is unclear from the specification what sort of excitation is being claimed. Is this excitation of valence electrons to higher level orbitals or temperature excitation or perhaps does this merely preclude a plasma assisted MBE process?

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-6, 11-18, 20-23 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
